

I'm new to the world of Documentary Birth Photography, but I wanted to take a big step in the field by applying to the Outstanding Maternity Award. After all, if I don't aim high now, who will do it for me? Without expectations, I submitted ten photos. One of them was awarded! I have no doubt that this award will open many doors for me and set me apart from other professionals in the future. It's an internationally recognized prize that highlights exceptional individuals in Maternity and Family Photography. I am very happy to have participated. Surely we will see each other here again! And thank you so much for helping so many photographers soar higher in their careers, and for making us believe more in our potential.
